Town Seeking Input on Management Board for NRCC

Public input is being sought for the potential establishment of a management board to oversee the Norman Ritchie Community Centre (NRCC). The Town of Kindersley is hosting an information session on Monday, March 16, 2015 to gauge interest and identify citizens' interested in becoming involved.

The NRCC currently serves as Kindersley's primary performing arts venue. The facility is home to a number of local arts and culture groups and is also booked for private functions throughout the year.

In recent years, the NRCC has experienced flooding and other structural issues due to the building's aging infrastructure. The Town has endeavoured to work with user groups to create as minimal interruption to programming as possible, while assessing its capacity to maintain the building in its current condition.

Other communities have found success in establishing management boards to oversee the operation of facilities, including bookings, finances, and maintenance. Examples of these include the Dekker Centre for the Performing Arts in North Battleford and the Regina Performing Arts Centre.

The information session is open to all and will begin at 7:00 pm in the upstairs conference room within the West Central Events Centre.
